

Century Analytics Customer Success Story: Henry & Horne, LLP

www.hhcpa.com

The Company

- Est. 1957, Henry & Horne, LLP has been one of the leading accounting firms in Arizona with offices in Tempe, Scottsdale and Casa Grande
- 18 partners and over 150 professional and support staff
- Consisting of CPAs, business consultants, valuation experts and financial planners
- Top 200 firm in the United States

The Problem

- IT Director tasked with maintaining over 250 reports in Microsoft Access and Excel
- Vast majority of these reports were variations of the same report in order to accommodate each partners personal preferences and individual business views
- This became an overwhelming task to keep up with the continual report iterations
- In addition, their Time and Billing solution did not allow for generation of reports with both budget and actual information as this data was stored in separate data sources

"Century Analytics offers us a flexible and powerful means of pulling information from the CCH Practice Management system. The ability to design a report that gives us real time access to sort, order, summarize and drill down into the detail has literally cut our necessary reports from over 250 down to less than 50. We utilize Century Analytics for meaningful financial information; client lists and downloads, due date and budget monitoring, marketing and human resources."

– Ledah A. Cornell, retired Director of Technology for Henry & Horne, LLP

The Solution

- With Century Analytics, Henry & Horne was able to accommodate all of the individual partners report preferences and views within a single solution
- This reduced the overall report count from 250+ down to less than 50(5-6 templates)
- In addition, they were able to generate reports to track projects (tax returns, audits, etc.) against budget without having to manually merge data within spreadsheets each and every week.
- Drastically reduced report development time from weeks to mere seconds
- Automation of report updates, distribution and alerts freed up administrative time
- Overall a huge time saving in resources and the simple, yet decisively powerful user interface was widely adopted across the organization

"Century Analytics has literally saved weeks of time in report writing and analysis and is very easy to use. Once you get into the program, a world of information is at your fingertips."
